SCHMIDT IN THE TOILS

Calgary Albertan: The chief of police made the record trip yesterday after the prisoner Schmidt. He left Calgary at 7 p. m. Thursday, arrived at Lethbridge at 4 a. m. Friday, left at 6 a. m. and reached Calgary at noon yesterday with his prisoner. Hour by hour additional complaints are made against Schmidt. He played no favorites and was not at all particular where the money came from. He borrowed from them all.

To two ladies with whom he boarded he owes $640. When the board bill mounted up Schmidt drew on his friends for more money to go to Denmark, where almost the entire wealth of Denmark was at his bidding. He intended to secure a large portion of it, come home, pay all his debts, and everyone would be happy ever after.

J. A. Mackenzie was one of the gentlemen whom Schmidt honored by his attentions. Mr. Mackenzie, who is not a person to be taken in every day, was victimized by this smooth person. Mr. Mackenzie now holds a note for $100 signed by the Dane, dated May 8th, 1905.

There are many other mourners in these proceedings. They include the Western Milling Co., Mr. Bell of P. Burns & Co., to the extent of $600, and a number of others.

Duluth, Oct. 15.—The steamer B. F. Jones carries 2 1/2 cents a bushel for the transportation of the wheat to Buffalo, or better of a bushel, is $277,704.75, and the boat and cargo represent a valuation of about $750,000. It would require about twelve trains of about thirty cars each to furnish the load to the B. F. Jones.

McDOUGALL—TAIT.

The Niagara Falls Record of Sept. 25th contains an interesting account of the wedding of one of the most popular young men of this city, Mr. John C. McDougall, eldest son of Mr. John A. McDougall, of Edmonton, Alberta. The list of presents given by the Record was very substantially increased by Mr. McDougall's family and friends in Edmonton.

The Record says: "One of the prettiest weddings that has taken place in this city for many a day was celebrated at the home of Mr. John Work, when his step-daughter, Sophie Bernice Tait, was married to John Charles McDougall, of Edmonton, Alberta. The groom is the son of John A. McDougall, of the firm of McDougall & Secord, of Edmonton, Alberta, and grandson of Mr. John Work, of the same firm. The bride is the daughter of the late Alexander Tait, of this city, whose uncles, Daniel and Joseph, were respectively among the most respected and ablest men of business in the towns of Dundas and Glencoe."

"The bride is also the granddaughter of Robert Gunn, of this city who has throughout a long lifetime been one of our best citizens."

"The bride was dressed in white silk, wore a princess veil and carried a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid was Miss Purcell, of this city, who was also given in white."

"The groom was supported by his brother, James G. McDougall, of Edmonton. The gift of the groom to the bride was a golden necklace and locket, set with diamonds. The father and mother's gift to the bride was a hand-painted set of china. Among numerous and costly presents of cut glass and silver and fine needle work was a ladies' henna bag of Venetian kid, containing a one hundred dollar bill."

"The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Crawford, B.A., of St. Andrew's church, Niagara Falls. The bride and groom stood under a wedding bell and arch of flowers and ferns. Among the guests were the groom's mother, who with her husband and daughters has just completed a trip around the world, and his uncle, Amey, and cousin, of Cannington."

"The catering was done by Saunders. The toasts were responded to in a most hearty manner, and the response of the grandfather, who is over eighty years of age, to one of the toasts, was indeed worthy of mention."

"On their return they will leave for their home in Edmonton."

Striking Mill Men Anxious to go Back to Work.

(Bulletin Special)

Buckingham, Que., Oct. 16.—Detective Herbert Warner of Montreal, hit and mangled by a dum-dum bullet in the strike riot a week ago, died this morning. Pickard is making good progress. It has been decided at a meeting of the authorities at Montreal to hold an inquest into the death next Wednesday.

There is every indication that the strike among the employees of the James MacLaren company which has been in progress for six weeks will be settled today or very soon. After several efforts the strikers succeeded in getting an interview with the employer who would make no promises or treaties, being prepared to close the mills for the winter. The employees have decided not to press their demands for increase and are willing to return to work at once, if the employer will promise not to dismiss any without first showing cause.

Ottawa, Oct. 15.—All was quiet at Buckingham today. An attempt was made to conciliate the strikers, or to induce them to accept the terms of the MacLarens but on this the union men are thoroughly determined. They will have none of conciliation except on their own terms. For higher wages they came out and higher wages they will have or leave their old homes.

DREW GOOD CROWD YESTERDAY.

Today the Big Day—Good Exhibits in all Classes.

(Bulletin Special)

Vermilion, Oct. 15.—Today is the first day of the fair, and there are quite a few visitors in town for the occasion. The weather is on the whole fine, but we hope for a better day tomorrow. Today has been occupied in receiving and placing exhibits and in judging, but tomorrow is to be the big day. The large tent which has been erected on the fair grounds is almost full, the ladies' work being especially well represented. Fancy needlework occupies a large portion of the space and is mostly of exceptionally good quality. The exhibit of roots will convince even an amateur of the possibilities of this country. The ladies are also well represented in the class for domestic produce, there being some first class samples of bread, butter and preserves. The entries of stock are exceeding expectations and show that the farmers in this part of the country are not going to be satisfied with quantity alone, but require quality as well. Stock judging and sports will be the order for tomorrow and we expect everybody to turn out in full force and have a good time.

RETAINING WALL.

For a number of weeks work has been in progress on the retaining wall at McKay avenue school. The work, which is being done by Messrs. Phassey and Batson is almost completed, the only part to be completed now being the coping which will be put on by the end of this week.

The wall is constructed of cement steel rods. At the south-west corner the wall is 32 feet high and is strengthened by heavy buttresses. Steel rods from half an inch to three quarters run vertically and horizontally through the entire height and length of the wall. The buttresses on the inside of the wall are reinforced by six stout rods of steel that run from the outer base of the pier to the top of the wall. The rods are fastened in the bottom by a large iron bolt.

A fence eight feet high will be built in the wall to prevent the children from falling in their play. The front of the school has been improved with an appropriate fence of cement.

Fowler Objects

TO BEING INTERROGATED.

Considers the Commission an Inquiry for Looking Into His Doings.

Toronto, Oct. 15.—How George W. Fowler, M. P., and other men, with Bennett, obtained possession of valuable lands in the northwest, formed important features of evidence before the insurance commission this morning.

Dr. Cronhyte was again called, and allowed a rest in front of the commission for his testimony. Shapley said it had been testified by Hon. Mr. Foster that one hundred shares of the Great West Land Company's stock were invested in the witness' name. However, the doctor replied that such a statement was erroneous. McGillivray had asked him to attend to the company, but the doctor stated that he had said he could not do so, nothing being a member. It was then that he had been asked that he was a shareholder. "He had never" attended the meeting.

Shapley then asked about two payments received by Cronhyte in the respect of certain northwest lands, these payments being $1,250 and $1,000 respectively. He had not been informed of such receipts until he had returned from his trip in April, 1924, when Dr. Montagu intimated that such payments had been made from the Montagu syndicate. The witness said he gave instructions that this amount go to the Foresters' home. That year they had not thought it advisable to draw any money from the order for the home, but they were private sums sent. He had never inquired into the $1,250 from the Union Trust Company. "I was assured by Montagu that these moneys were profits from my share in the Montagu land deal," said Dr. Cronhyte.

The doctor desired to make a statement refuting the allegation that he was an exceedingly wealthy man. He had, he said, spent $100,000 in improvements to "Foresters' Island." Last year he had cleared the whole property over to give the management absolute isolation for the children. He had a house on the island, as had also his son and daughter. After their return the whole property became absolutely the property of the I.O.F.

"My income today is just my salary," said the doctor. "Everything outside of that goes to the home." He also said he had, perhaps, $2,000 worth of property in Toronto and his farm on the Indian Reserve, but the latter could not be sold until he had returned to Toronto, Oct. 12.—Before the insurance commission, Fowler said he was a barrister, having been a member of the House of Commons since 1904. Telling of his land deals, he said it was some time in October, 1922, that he and Pope, in behalf of themselves and others, had got options on lands from the C.P.R. for $1.50 an acre. Shapley asked where the option was, but Fowler did not remember about it. Shapley wanted all papers in connection with the deal, and the correspondence with Griffin, land commissioner of the C.P.R.

Shapley asked the witness to take down a number of memoranda regarding the correspondence about the land. "Write down," said Shapley, "as that article was mentioned." Fowler wrote: "Tell me the origin of this purchase of lands," said Shapley.

Fowler entered a protest, but this was not heard by the commission. Then he told of Pope, LeFevre, Bennett and himself being in the west together and saying what they thought were good opportunities to make money. "We shared with the majority of mankind the desire to make money," remarked Fowler. "We thought we had a perfectly legitimate enterprise." He continued that it looked legal even for members of parliament. Officials of the Hudson's Bay Company advised them to buy C.P.R. lands as these were cheaper. Accordingly they were taken to the C.P.R. finding that they could get and they wanted north of the Saskatchewan river for $3.50 an acre. At that time they had no money, neither did they make application for a contract or option.

Of course they thought it best to get as near the proposed Canadian northern Railway as possible and they saw D. D. Mann shortly afterwards in Toronto. The latter told them the better way was to go up there and the surveyors. However a map was produced and a route indicated. They subsequently received a map, though they did not know who marked the route until he knew of no suggestion a title meeting of any pretence held at the hands of Mackenzie and Mann.

"Tell me of the arrangement with Mackenzie and Mann?" said Shapley. "Fowler, however, gave no direct answer, hinting that he knew of no arrangement."

"Then we went to Montreal and saw the president of the C. P. R., Sir Thomas Shaughnessy," said Fowler. They told Shaughnessy that they wanted to purchase C. P. R. lands, and he referred them to Land Commissioner Griffin.

"He said he would take in hand the arrangement of the price," said Fowler. Shapley called this a "threat," but Fowler thought it better defined "intimidation." They understood this was said as an intimation that they were to get the lands at less than $3.50 an acre, of taking such a large block of land. Afterwards they made a formal application for the land; it being done by writing. Concerning Peuchon's connection, Fowler said that Pope had introduced him.

The reply to their application was that the price of land had been raised from $3.50 to $5. After that they saw Thomas Shaughnessy again about the price, saying they did not see why they had been turned down. Sir Thomas said in a short while Griffin would be in Montreal, and the matter would then be discussed. Griffin was met in the fall or early winter, together with another official named Dennis. The latter interview was brief. Pope and witness indicated the lands wanted. Sir Thomas pointed out that the application had been made when the lands were $3.50 an acre, and that was the price. Fowler wanted the terms changed from six payments to ten payments, but Sir Thomas would not arrange terms. Witness knew of no formal agreement. There were $30,000 acres, out of which they had a right to select 200,000 acres. Afterwards they became possessed of the knowledge of the route of the Canadian Northern, and took away portions of the option, but there still remained two hundred thousand acres.

Fowler stated that during their interview with the C.P.R. president, they felt under no obligation to tell of the Canadian Northern route. Fowler said when they were called upon to make the first payment of $20,000, others had been taken into the syndicate, such as George Parker, of St. John, N. B.; Samuel A. McLeod, of Sussex, N.B.; Mr. Pardee, and Mr. Pugsley, of the same place.

After these men had been taken in, they each put up a sum for preliminary expenses. They were brought into the original syndicate during the time negotiations were being made.

We expected to dispose of this land before we had fully paid for it," remarked Fowler. When the first payment of $20,000 was made by them, Peuchon was away, and Bennett and Safford each put up $2,000. They financed Peuchon's portion. Mackenzie and Mann endorsed notes from Pope and witness. They financed for Peuchon because he was away, but Mackenzie and Mann financed for the other seven members, railroad men, to get half of the rest. He added, however, that Mackenzie and Mann never paid notes, simply endorsed them, the partners paying the money themselves.

Fowler then told of being summoned to Toronto to meet possible purchasers for western lands, and prior to that had paid about $50,000 on the lands.

Madame Hersee, the famous Prima Donna, who, after a tour through the States was summoned to sing before the King at Buckingham Palace, has recently reaped great benefit from Bileans. In the course of an interview with a leading journalist, she said: "I was often subject to liver trouble and indigestion, and usual remedies seemed quite inadequate and gave me no relief. I saw a report about Bileans one day and thought I would give them a trial. The result of the treatment was as surprising as it was pleasing. I felt quite another woman. Bileans are so delightfully easy to take, and one has not to go through a long weary course before reaping benefit. I am now recommending Bileans frequently to friends and pupils."

Bileans are a household remedy of unsurpassed merit. Their operation on the liver is just what is needed to transform an inactive, diseased organ into a healthy one. They also stimulate the digestive organs. When you remember that biliousness, indigestion, constipation, piles, dizziness, wind pains and headaches all arise primarily out of liver and stomach disorder, you at once see the value of Bileans as a remedy for stomach, cure these ailments in the surest possible way. They also cure debility, anaemia, female ailments and liver chill, clear the blood of impurities, and are a boon to pale-faced girls and weak women. Of all druggists at 50c a box, or post free from the Bileans Company, Toronto, on receipt of price.

Meeting at the Hat Resolves for Six-Club League with Regina, Calgary, Medicine Hat and Edmonton In.

(Bulletin Special.)

Medicine Hat, Oct. 16.—At a meeting held in the Cypress club here last night arrangements were completed for a six club western Canadian league to play organized ball for the season of 1907 under control of the National agreement.

DEACON'S STORY.

Convention Passes Important Resolution—Missionaries to Convert Moose Jaw and Lethbridge Sent Out.

Medicine Hat, Alta., Oct. 15.—The baseball convention at Medicine Hat adjourned at 5 p.m. last night to meet November 5th for official work. The following resolution was moved by W. J. Kirby of Calgary, seconded by W. F. White of Edmonton and carried unanimously: "That a league be organized provincially, to be called the Western Canada Baseball League, club members to be Calgary, Edmonton, Regina and Medicine Hat with power to increase to a six club league." A. Piller was elected temporary president and W. J. Kirby secretary. Messrs. White and Fleming of Medicine Hat, and Kirby were delegates to a committee to visit Lethbridge tomorrow to lay the proposition before the citizens of that city and endeavor to get their application for a franchise in the new "Western Canada League." Mr. Young of Regina was a delegate to act in the same capacity with Moose Jaw. The feeling is unanimous here that Lethbridge and Moose Jaw will join the organization making a well-circled six clubs. Medicine Hat and Regina are very enthusiastic. Wm. Cousins and Jim Fleming are backing the Medicine Hat club, and meanly means are behind Regina. At the meeting on November 5th official delegates from the various clubs will elect permanent officers at the league and adopt a constitution and by-laws. Protection will then be sought from the national association.—W. F. White.

THANKSGIVING BALL.

Large Amount Will Probably Be Raised by Baseball Men for the Ambulance Fund.

The Thanksgiving game of baseball under the patronage of the Daughters of the Empire is catching on and the indications are that a good fund will be raised toward the purchase of the ambulance, which the Daughters aspire to place at the disposal of the city for the sick and wounded. The ball boys are taking the proposition up heartily and a good game is promised. If the weather man is kind there is no doubt that a very large gate will be secured, as baseball on Thanksgiving is a novelty in the parts and the worthiness of the object will undoubtedly help to guarantee a good attendance.

HOCKEY OFFICERS ELECTED.

At a general meeting of the Strathcona Hockey Club the following officers were appointed: Patron, Hon. A. C. Rutherford; hon. president, Dr. McIntyre; hon. vice-president, Mayor Sheppard; president, Harry Wilson; vice-president, J. B. Millar; secretary-treasurer, Richards.

A vote of thanks was tendered Rev. W. R. George, the retiring president, for the very efficient manner in which he had conducted the business of the club.

EDMONTON RIFLE ASSOCIATION.

October 13th at the range showed some good shooting especially on the part of the younger members, from amongst whom we look forward to obtaining some good keen marksmen. The day was very fair for shooting, although not an ideal one, the changing light and varying wind being responsible for some slight falling off in the scoring. And now, so near the matches let us hope the proverbial Alberta weather will stand us in good stead, and that we have a record turn out on Thursday and Friday. An amended prize list is published.

The scores on Saturday were as follows:

R. Gregory	26	31	30-87
W. Pearce	29	30	25-84
S. B. Brown	23	31	25-79
P. Mulvaney	25	32	22-79

UNNECESSARY ZEAL

Eastern newspapers show an altogether unnecessary "touchiness" about the "Americanizing of the west," stories appearing not infrequently in journals published beyond the border.

It is by no means strange that such stories should occasionally appear in a certain class of newspapers published in the United States. The journals in which they appear are, without exception, of the class which regards the production of sensation as of more consequence than either the ethics or wisdom involved in its production, and that the practice is confined to such journals is sufficient reason for paying little attention to it.

The exodus of thousands of United States people to Canada offers to this class of publications a rare opportunity to pandering to the "jingo" sentiment with a certain amount of which every nation is cursed. It is easy for them to represent the strong attachment which these people have for the institutions to which they have been familiar; to misrepresent this attachment as a blind hatred of all other forms of public institution, good & bad; and to draw the jingoist-elating conclusion that the new settlers will not rest content under whatever form may be found in Canada, and will sow the seeds of discontent and sedition to ripen into a movement for annexation. That the journals to which this species of reasoning is familiar and to whom the immediate results are the all absorbing question, readily seize this opportunity does not need assertion.

But the vapors of such babblers should not be confounded as the solid opinion of the body of responsible American journalism nor as reflecting the ideals of the people of the United States as a people, least of all as voicing the purpose or inclination of the thousands of them who are seeking homes in Canada. And unless so misinterpreted they are not worth the frequent castigations bestowed on them by well-meaning but over-zealous journals in Eastern Canada. If the conditions were reversed, Canada has not a few publications which would play to the gallery after the present fashion of United States yellow sheets. As under such circumstances Canadian journalism would repudiate the voices of such irresponsible organs being interpreted as the real opinions either of the Canadian people or of the Canadian emigrants, so Canadian journalism should avoid appearing to consider the gossip of the United States babblers as reflecting the real opinion of the United States people or of the emigrants from that country.

The Eastern Canadian journals, which are so concerned about the "Americanizing" of the west, might learn a lesson from the papers published in the west. It needs a very casual familiarity with the journals of the west to convince the reader that these are not more lacking in loyalty either to Canada or to the empire than their eastern contemporaries, nor less fearless or direct in voicing this loyalty when occasion calls. If then there appeared in this country any trend of public sentiment threatening the present political relationship of the Dominion, the newspapers of the west could be relied upon not only to disclose the danger, but to assail it after the manner of the west. Yet no such apprehension is reflected either in warnings or the policy of the western papers, save an occasional assurance to their contemporaries of the east that their fears are unfounded. The western papers know the United States emigrants—know them too well to suspect either their political integrity or their political judgment.

They know that while the settlers from the United States are attached to the institutions of the country from which they come, this attachment is not a fanaticism which so blinds them to the merits of other institutions as to make them traitors to the country which offers them the opportunity of bettering their conditions of life. Eastern Canadian papers, zealous for the future of the Canadian west, may take the guarantee of the western press for the loyalty of the United States settlers. To question that loyalty is a gratuitous insult to a very highly esteemed class of western people.

CURRENT COMMENT

From Vancouver comes an announcement that "Fighting Joe" Martin is to break into British Columbia politics with a brand new "third party," which means presumably that Joseph has hopes of securing an assistant in his business of preventing government in the Pacific province.

The Camrose Mail man was in town a few days last week, and among his other experiences spent a few minutes at the council meeting on Tuesday evening. After recording his personal impressions of the mayor and aldermen, he says: "As far as we could see—the commissioners are not of much use at the time they should be, only when they have a little scheme they want put through—then they have the power and through it goes. This commissioner scheme is a failure and a fake, or, to put it more mildly, a flaw in the municipal government." This, of course, is the impression of a fifteen minutes' observation of the handling of municipal affairs. Had the observation spread over fifteen months the impression would probably have been different.

Honor to whom honor is due. Some time since the Bulletin suggested that if all that is said about Mr. W. R. Hearst be true his newspapers might cherish the hope of becoming quite as unprincipled and nearly as insulting as the Calgary Herald. The Herald has been improving of late, however, and it appears now quite impossible that Mr. Hearst's papers should become either as unprincipled or as insulting.

EDMONTON-DAWSON LINE.

Dawson City News: It has been decided by the Klondike Mines railway backers to extend the railway next year from Sulphur Springs, the outer terminus for this year. The point to which the road will be extended next year is not definitely fixed. It will go at least to Granville, and perhaps on over the Flat Creek country. Bloomfield Smith, Dawson, representative of the London stockholders, has received instructions to have the preparations made for extending the line.

The Stewart River is the ultimate destination of the road, but some believe that it is designated by the English backers to ultimately make it a link in the proposed railway from Edmonton to Dawson. By going to the Flat Creek and Stewart River basin, the road will be in the ancient channel of the Stewart, which connects with a natural ancient highway leading to the head of the Pelty, and then over the divide into the Peace River country, not far from Edmonton.

Fifty-five miles of the preliminary line has been run along the route stated, and the work of running the permanent location beyond the springs thirty to fifty miles will begin at once. It is yet a question whether only thirty or fifty miles will be constructed next year.

So many miles of construction have to be accomplished each year in order to get the bonus offered by the Dominion government.

STRATHCONA.

Strathcona, October, 15.—Mr. W. J. Tipton, of J. G. Tipton and Son, real estate agents, had a very narrow escape from serious injury last week. It appears Mr. Tipton had been standing in his buggy hanging an auction sale bill when his horse started, giving him a bad fall. Fortunately, however, he escaped with a badly bruised ankle.

Messrs. T. P. Malone, A. Adams, A. Garbe, D. Currie, Cris. Young, Alex. Benson, A. Pearce and James Hamilton McDonald have all returned from visiting New Westminster fair.

Miss Blanche Beaton has left her to spend a vacation at Beaton, British Columbia.

An "at home" under the auspices of the Hospital Aid Society takes place at the residence of Mrs. A. W. Yall (near the Holy Trinity Church) on Tuesday (to-day) from 3 to 6 p.m.

Would $25.00 Buy You a New Jacket?

That would pay for a pretty good coat, wouldn't it, Mrs. Housekeeper?

Yet you may be actually throwing away money every year—by using the ordinary steel range.

Partly because of the material it is made of, and partly because of its construction.

Steel can be riveted to steel, but on account of the expansion and contraction of heat and cold, the seams between the rivets will open up, and let in the outside air.

The oven in a range of this sort is usually flanged over and riveted, and the seams plastered with stove putty.

Soon the putty dries up, and the cracks out, the drops suck in cold air, and you are kept busy shoveling in coal to make fire hot enough to off-set the "air leaks."

Then the door-frames on such a range are cast-iron. And because cast-iron is too brittle to stand the hammering that riveting demands, these frames are bolted—and the joints filled with stove putty.

The bolts loosen and these joints, too, open up, and more cold air comes in to cause the fire to burn slowly when you want it quick, and to keep it roaring when you want it shut off.

So you can easily see how much more a steel and cast-iron range costs you.

And it becomes more expensive every year you use it.

Now, if you want to save that extra money wasted in coal, Mrs. Housekeeper—

If you want to do your cooking economically and satisfactorily—buy a Monarch Range.

For the Monarch will not open up in the seams and waste fuel.

It is made of Wellsville polished steel and Malleable iron.

The advantage Malleable Iron has is that it can be cold riveted to steel without the use of stove putty to make air-tight joints.

So all the frames in the Monarch are made of Malleable Iron—around the Oven Door, Ash Door, Pouch Feed Door, etc. The steel sides are riveted solidly and tightly to Malleable Iron Frames, which make a solid base, unaffected by heat or cold.

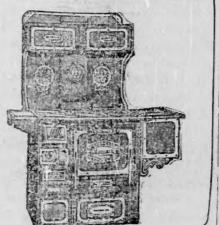

Now, this air-tight construction makes air-leaks impossible in the Monarch, hence it saves you $20 to $30 every year and will be doing good service long after the loose-jointed steel range has been sent to the scrap-heap.

We can show you many other features about the Monarch—the Duplex Draft which lets in air at both ends of the fire-box, ensuring even cooking—the Contact Reservoir which heats water quickly—the Malleable Iron top which requires no blacking to keep clean, etc., all of which are exclusive with the Monarch. It is well worth an hour of your time to examine this range.

A $1.00 Cook Book Free

The Monarch Cook Book, written by Mrs. Helen M. Thomson, an acknowledged authority on domestic science is a Real Book, not a cheap circular, 144 pages bound in cloth on board covers—a book that would cost $1.00 at the book stores.

It contains 100 recipes, many of them new, all simple, easy to make and inexpensive. Has practical menus for the whole year and many valuable hints on diet and marketing. You can get it without cost. If you intend buying a range or cook stove within a year, HOW TO GET IT, cut out this advertisement, send it to the Malleable Iron Range Company, Beaver Dam, Wis., and tell them WHEN (stating month if possible) you expect to buy and you will receive this valuable book free. As the edition is limited, write now.

Calgary Liberals

HELD ASPLENDID RALLY.

Hon. F. Oliver and Hon. W. H. Cushing Delivered Addresses.

Liberal Club rooms were opened yesterday on an occasion which was most auspicious. The rooms were crowded with interested people, the entertainment was good, and the speeches were excellent.

The club rooms are very complete, with writing rooms, reading rooms, amusement rooms and a large audience room. All were crowded last night.

Dr. Stewart, president of the club, made a very acceptable chairman. A. M. Grogan, treasurer of the club, made a short but pointed address. Hon. Mr. Cushing and Hon. Frank Oliver made very able addresses. D. D. Galletly, of Banff, sang two very good Scotch songs, which brought down the house. Bagley's orchestra provided further music.

Mr. Cushing in his address referred to the old days when a Liberal felt like taking the back streets in Calgary. It was a good thing for this country that the times had changed. It was a good thing that affairs existing then had passed away, and he hoped that they would never return.

In removing that undesirable condition of affairs, Liberalism had done much if not all. He believed that good Liberals were good Canadians, who put their country before their party. He referred to the club rooms as the present home of the party, and hoped often to consult his constituents in these rooms.

In referring to the Alberta administration, he said their object was to conduct the business of the country in a business manner. He spoke of the moral interests of the country which were at the base of everything.

Mr. Cushing was received with great enthusiasm, as was also Mr. Oliver.

Mr. Oliver began his address by referring to the growth of Liberal sentiment in the district of Calgary. He was pleased, he said, to address Calgary Liberals triumphant. When he represented this part of Alberta the Liberals did not count upon many votes in this part of Alberta. But last election the Liberals had triumphed. He was pleased to know that the sentiment which had triumphed in Calgary last October was still alive, vigorous and growing. He was pleased to see also that means were being taken to carry on the organization.

Mr. Oliver did not maintain that the Liberal party were responsible for all the progress and prosperity in Canada today. But the Liberal party stands for principles, and it was on account of the active embodiment of those principles that the country is what it is today.

No government can make a country prosperous or a country successful. But a government has the administration of public affairs, and upon the sound judgment of the administration the progress of a country to a great extent depends. To deny this is to deny the examples of history. Compare Russia and the United States. Why is not Russia prosperous? It is an enormous country. It is rich in resources. It is because it has not a good government or a good system of government.

Mr. Oliver then addressed himself to the newcomers, who had not had an opportunity of comparing in this western country the embodiment of Conservative and Liberal principles.

At the end of 18 years of Conservative administration this city had a population of not more than 3,000, and there were a great many empty houses and empty stores. The population of the west was not increasing. The country had much the same transportation facilities that it has at the present time.

The reason that it was not progressing was that steps were not taken to place the advantages of the country before the people in foreign countries, and the interests of those within the country were not looked after as they should have been. The Conservatives did send a few immigration agents outside of the country, but what chance had they of bringing people into this country when the people here had a just grievance against the administration of the lands, of the railway policy and of the tariff policy of the government.

In the years between 1896 and 1900 three-fourths of my time was taken up with the adjustment of legitimate grievances of settlers against the administration. It was impossible to get settlers to come from outside when those within were dissatisfied.

"There was a change in policy with a change in government. The policy after that was the interests of the settler first and every person else after. Then when those within were satisfied with the administration, agents abroad secured settlers and brought them in."

"This all took time, but at the end of ten years we find that the eyes of the world are upon us, that the population of the western country has increased from 200,000 to over a million and that land values have doubled, trebled, and in some cases increased ten fold. And there is such a condition of progress in the land as has never been experienced in any part of the world at any time before."

Mr. Oliver referred to the building of the Crow's Nest Pass railway. That was regarded as a scandal, and it was said that the country was being robbed. Now millions and millions of dollars are invested in the mines of Southern British Columbia, which would never have been invested but for the building of that road. On account of the concession on freight rates the entire northwest profited by the arrangement. But in the building of that road a new policy was inaugurated. Before every railway constructed in the west was paid for once, twice, and often three times over by the lands from the northwest. Between the years 1872 and 1896 at least 30 million acres of land had been handed out for railways. The main line of the C.P.R. and branches and the line from Medicine Hat to the boundary were all the country had to show for it. The policy was that out of the northwest should these railways be constructed, and that the northwest should pay for them.

Since 1896 the railway mileage in the west has been doubled and is in process of being doubled again, and not an acre of land had been expended. Whatever aid has been granted has been paid in cash out of the treasury of Canada.

"It was said that the land was lying around loose, that nothing was being done with it, and that it might as well have been handed out to the railways to develop as to have lain idle. But is that all? The land that was given to the railways at that time is being sold today for $5, $10, and as high as $20 per acre. That is being paid for by the toil and labor of the men who today are working upon it."

"Is it nothing that the Liberals abandoned this principle and at the same time have doubled the mileage of the roads?"

Mr. Oliver referred to the many ways that the administration had endeavored to make it easy for the settler. One example was given of the policy in connection with the creameries. An effort had been made to establish creameries along the north line, but without success. It had been tried time after time, but unsuccessfully. The administration took hold of it. It was regarded as a penny ha'penny policy. It was regarded as a little thing for a great government to take hold of. But the administration set it upon its feet. It was in these ways that the policy of the Liberal government to satisfy the settlers within the country was carried out.

Mr. Oliver referred to the granting of provincial organization, which was made upon such broad lines that at the meeting of the premiers just held the premiers of the other provinces are basing their demands for additional concessions upon the terms freely accorded to the two new provinces by the Dominion.

Liberalism is the policy of progress and fair play. The present government has been a western government. The success of the west has been achieved by following out the principle of progress and fair play in conjunction with the many advantages of the country and the energy of the people.

The railway policy of the government was not only building railways, but securing competition. Competition was as necessary as the railways. No country can succeed without railways, and without competition in railways.

The policy of the government was not only to have a line of railway across the continent but to secure competition.

It was said at one time that the C.P.R. had a firm hold upon the administration and would continue its hold upon the administration whatever party might be in power, and for a time that was thought to be the case, even after the present party was in power. But it had a hold on the present administration until such time as the government got in a position to shake it loose. And it is good and loose now.

The branch lines, Mr. Oliver maintained, were as important as the main line. The idea of the government in enlisting the services of the Grand Trunk was to get a rich, strong and experienced railway which could go to every part of the vast country where traffic would warrant it. It was to secure competition in every part of the west.

The people here at first might not have appreciated the full effect of the railway, because it was going so far north. But the building of the line was no more part of the policy of the road than securing competition throughout all parts of the west.

Mr. Oliver maintained that the Liberal policy had been tried for ten years, and that it had panned out according to expectation, and fulfilled all reasonable hopes.

He referred to the attempts that had been made to build up scandals and the charges that had been made of graft. He would not go into the details, although he was prepared to go into the details whenever any person desired it. In 1896 there were from 3,000 to 4,000 homesteads annually. Last year 30,000 homestead entries were made. He was prepared to say that with the greatly expanded work there was not 10 per cent. of the mismanagement or dissatisfaction that there was ten years ago, in any way, shape or manner.

It is not to be expected that in the administration of such a stupendous department that some irregularities do not occur. Not every official will be efficient, and occasionally some will be dishonest. But the spirit of the department is honesty and fair play to the settler. The interest of the settler is first, last and always.

Mr. Oliver referred to the difficulties that the department had to face in the Calgary district. At one time the south was regarded as a ranching country. Now it is demonstrated that it is a grain country. There is a wide margin between an acre of wheat and an acre of grass. It was the intention of the department that every acre should be made as productive as possible. It was inevitable that there should be a conflict of interest between the rancher and the grain grower, and there was no help for it. It was not possible to draw a straight line and say that on this side is ranching and on that side is grain land. The department is anxious that every acre of grass shall be turned into beef, and just as anxious that every acre possible shall be turned into grain.

The department cannot give the rancher everything he wants even though sometimes he gives good reasons for his request, and it cannot give the grain grower everything he wants, even though he may give good reasons for it. The object of the department is to give the rancher the preference where there is grass and the preference to the farmer where grain can be grown.

"It is the same way with the coal lands. If we are too easy with the leases we are accused of tying up the resources by placing them in the hands of speculators. If we are too hard we are accused of interfering with the development of the resources of the country. The policy of the department was to give every man who desires it an opportunity to invest his money in the development of the country."

In this regard Mr. Oliver referred to the contest between the cattle men and the sheep men and the question of irrigation.

"What we want is the development of the country and fair play to the man who is giving that development."

Mr. Oliver concluded by predicting that the development had only begun, and that there would be thousands and thousands more people and greater increases in land values, and that the progress justified the statement that if the nineteenth century was the century of the United States, that the twentieth century was that of Canada.

USED SHOT GUNS.

Lacombe Globe: There is a bunch of trouble piling up for a few of the youths of Lacombe. Several youngsters armed themselves with shot guns on Saturday last, and, proceeding to the residence of Jas. Haydon, east of town, began a fierce bombardment. At the close of the proceedings the house presented a forlorn appearance, every pane of glass being blown out, and the doors shot to pieces. Mr. Haydon knows the names of the boys interested and will make an example of them.

THE ash-pit of the Oxford Hot Water Boiler high base gives great depth for accumulated ashes, and, when ordered, is fitted with an ash sifter which separates the good coal from the dead ashes, thus, without any extra trouble, saving much fuel that is ordinarily thrown away.

Oxford Hot Water Boiler

The diameter of the fire-pot is greater at the top than at the bottom, preventing an accumulation of ashes around the most active part of the boiler.

The triangular revolving grate is hollow, allowing immense air space without permitting live coals to drop through. Dead ashes, clinkers, etc., are sharply cut off by a turn of the grate. The whole contents of the grate are dumped by a few extra turns.

We would like to tell you more about the Oxford Hot Water Boiler. Will you write for our book? It's free.

Vidette, Indian Head: The date for holding the third provincial fat stock show of the Saskatchewan Stock Breeders' Association has been fixed for Wednesday and Thursday, March 20 and 21, 1907, at Regina. The paper is to be a bi-monthly publication, and the scheme for its establishment has been endorsed by the Bishop of Saskatchewan, the Archbishop of Keewatin, and the Archbishop of the ecclesiastical province of Rupert's Land, and it is expected that the paper will become a power for work in the church in the west.

C.N.R. HOSPITALS.

Winnipeg Free Press: Steps are being taken towards the establishment of a series of hospitals to be thoroughly equipped with every modern appliance for the treatment of surgical cases, and to be located at divisional points—presumably Port Arthur, Rainy River and Winnipeg. A preliminary meeting has been held to discuss the medical system, and where it may be assisted in dealing more effectively with every contingency, and although matters are still in embryo, it is extremely unlikely that such a common sense and humane proposal will fall to the ground for want of initial support at any rate. It will, of course, entirely depend upon the efforts of the men—whether contributing directly towards the support of these hospitals or exercising themselves to find the necessary funds elsewhere, as in the case of similar institutions in Europe. Speaking to a number of C.N.R. operators, a Free Press representative found that the matter is regarded with favor everywhere, and that it may count upon the hearty support of the men, any one of whom knows it might be his misfortune at any time to require the aid that could scarcely be replaced by a more effective scheme.

A monthly subscription has been suggested, and as general dissatisfaction is felt as to the facilities afforded by what now exists in the shape of assistance, for more serious and protracted cases, the monthly donation will be all the more quickly forthcoming. When the necessary charter has been obtained it is quite expected in C.N.R. circles that the local hospital scheme will go humming.

EDDY COMPANY MAY COME.

Representatives in the City Yesterday Looking Over Situation.

Mr. William Horsley Rowley, general manager of the E. B. Eddy company, of Hull, Canada, accompanied by Mr. Peisse, of Tees & Perse, of Winnipeg, general agents for the Eddy company for Manitoba and the entire Northwest, spent yesterday in the city looking over the situation here.

Mr. Rowley, who may be described as one of the big men of Canada, is a believer in Edmonton. He is just completed a trip through western Canada, having travelled overland with the Manufacturers' Association to the coast. He did not complete the itinerary with the association as he wanted to have more than the few hours allowed by their schedule to look over Edmonton.

"We intend to keep abreast of the times," says Mr. Rowley, "and will have to establish branches to handle the business of the growing west. I intended visiting Edmonton in company with Mr. Milne, who is associated with me in the management of the Eddy company and it was our intention to look into the feasibility of establishing a branch of the Eddy company's manufacturing here. Unfortunately Mr. Milne could not come, but I can say that if we could find the labor here I think we could establish a branch at once. The unfortunate feature is that the labor is not in the country. A great many women and girls are employed in the match factories and woodenware factories and there is no supply of that class of labor. I think, however, that that could be overcome and I think we shall overcome it. You may be sure that we are alive to the possibilities of the west."

Asked as to the nature of manufacturing that could be carried on here Mr. Rowley said that they should be able to make matches, tubs, pails and all kinds of woodenware in Edmonton as well as any place in the west.

On the pulpwood proposition they had not done any figuring. Mr. Rowley seemed thoroughly familiar with the pulpwood possibilities of the Athabasca and the foothills along the river Saskatchewan, but seemed to think that that was a matter for future consideration. "However, you can depend on it that we have our eye on Edmonton," he said.

Mr. Perse of Tees & Perse, said that as a result of his and Mr. Rowley's visit, his company would have to find larger accommodations for their warehouse here. They intend to lease some larger premises in some of the warehouse buildings now going up.

MAPLE CREEK ACCIDENT.

Maple Creek, Sask., October 15.—A railway accident happened here last night about 6.30 between two freight trains, one running into the other. Four cars and a van were burnt, the fire catching from the engine. The loss is about $3,000. No person was hurt.

FIRE AT SETTLEUR.

Independent: On Monday morning the town had a narrow escape from destruction by fire. About ten o'clock the alarm was given and townsmen turned out in double quick time. A small building used by the Acorn Lumber Co. as a store room and which is situated in the rear of the Nickerson Furnishing Co.'s and Riggs & Whyte's general store was discovered to be on fire. The fire was first seen by Capt. Nickerson who tried to extinguish it with a basin of water but finding it had gained a hold on the building he promptly gave the alarm.

In the space of two minutes there were over a hundred men on the scene mostly armed with buckets of water. The fire was speedily extinguished but had it got fairly going a bucket brigade would have been powerless to save even the building or the town. The promptitude with which the alarm was answered indicates the anxiety that is felt at the lack of fire-fighting appliances. Farmers and visitors who were in town left their teams and business to lend a hand.

Fortunately the fire did not amount to much but the action of visitors in so promptly offering assistance in an hour of danger is greatly appreciated. It is not known how the fire started but it is supposed it was caused by a smouldering cigar or cigarette butt being carelessly thrown among the rubbish. A wind was blowing from the south which would have assisted the destroying element and had the fire occurred at night it is more than likely that the town of Settleur of today would have been represented by a heap of ashes.
